2. Developing programs to support women and children in non-traditional family circumstances, particularly widows and orphans
3. Discussing educational needs and priorities in order to create and refine access to education for children in rural areas within member states

Joint Cabinet Crisis – Palestinian Unity Government and the State of Israel

**Cabinets consist of 8 high-ranking government officials each**

The Joint Cabinet Crisis is an excellent opportunity to take part in a more dynamic, engaging, as well as challenging debate environment. Two separate working groups will be formed, one representing the recently formed Palestinian Unity Government and the other the State of Israel. At the conference, each government will be presented with a series of interrelated crises pertaining to current events. The governments must work to solve the contentions between them and further their own national interests. Official communiqués, moderated by conference staff, will serve as the only method for negotiations between the parties. Scenarios are based in reality, though the actions taken by each government will impact scenario development in a responsive and ever-shifting political and security environment.
